

2022 Training and Wellness Seminars

You can support your employees with the tools and resources to empower positive change in their lives

Introduction

When your employees are struggling personally or professionally, it can affect your company's culture and performance. We are here to provide employees and managers with helpful resources, techniques, and support.

Through seminars and trainings, we hope to make it a little easier to reach out and address health, wellness, and work-life balance issues. These offerings tackle everything from substance use and bullying to retirement planning and communication skills. There are also special leadership-focused topics, like managing change, fostering inclusion, and delegating.

If you have questions about the topics covered in this catalog, or would like to schedule a seminar/training, please contact your client consultant.

Q & A

Q: How and when can I schedule a seminar or training?

A: You can request a seminar or training by contacting your client consultant. We ask for a minimum 15- to 20-day notice to coordinate your seminar. Let your client consultant know which seminar you want to offer, along with where and when you'd like to have it.

Q: How long are the seminars?

A: Most seminars are 60-minutes long. If more or less time is needed, please discuss with your client consultant.

Q: Where are the seminars held?

A: Seminars can be delivered on-site, via webinar, or both. Please let your client consultant know which format you prefer.

Q: Do I need to have any special equipment to hold an on-site seminar or training?

A: Yes, you will need to have a computer with Microsoft PowerPoint and the technology to project a slide show. Plan to have the presentation loaded and ready to go on the day of your seminar. If you do not have this technology, you can still schedule a seminar — just let your client consultant know.

Q: Can these seminars/webinars be recorded for playback at a later time?

A: Yes, once a seminar/webinar is recorded, you receive an mp4 file for employee use.

Q: How much do the training and wellness seminars cost?

A: Training and wellness seminars are subtracted from your contracted training bank of hours. After you've used your hours, the seminars are billed at $250 per hour, per presenter. Feel free to contact your client consultant for information about your seminar bank balance.

Q: Can we cancel a seminar?

A: Yes, but we ask for a 72-hour cancellation notice for all on-site and webinar seminars. Failure to give notice may result in a cancellation fee or deduction of the seminar hours from your available bank of hours.

Q: What happens once the seminar is scheduled?

A: Your client consultant will send you a confirmation, presentation materials, and an evaluation form before the scheduled event.

Q: Will I speak with the facilitator before the seminar?

A: Yes, your seminar facilitator will contact you before the seminar date to introduce themselves and discuss any outstanding details. Be sure to tell the facilitator about your culture, the work your employees do, and your goals for the seminar.

Q: Do you have a minimum attendance requirement?

A: No, but we prefer five or more employees.

Q: Can I receive copies of the evaluation forms?

A: Please feel free to make copies. The facilitator will collect the originals.

Q: What's the best way I can ensure a successful training?

A: Here are a few steps to help make sure it's a success:

1. Select a topic of interest to your employees.
2. Schedule the event well in advance.
3. Promote your event widely and often.
4. Send a reminder message to your employees.
5. Distribute seminar materials.

New Topics

Families of Children with Autism During COVID-19

This course deals with the challenges and sources of stress during the pandemic that are unique to families with autistic children. Participants will learn how to draw on inner reserves to cope with emotional difficulties as well as practical strategies for dealing with autistic children. Topics will include resilience, homeschooling techniques, and tips for structuring homelife.

Holiday Season During COVID-19

This holiday season will be like nothing we have experienced before. Let's use this season as an opportunity to examine what we want from the holidays and how we will make that happen. Participants will be encouraged to discuss planning and tactical ways to make sure we do not miss out on this holiday season, ensuring this will be a healthy holiday season for you and your family. We will include using technology in fun and imaginative ways.

How to Keep Your Family Healthy (previously recorded, not live)

This course focuses on characteristics of COVID-19 as they pertain to your family's health. Topics will include how the virus spreads, how to recognize the symptoms, how to respond to a positive diagnosis, etc.

How to Stay Healthy

This class is an overview of why self-care is so important for your health and your immune system amidst the pandemic. It will also include health tips for reducing your risk of contracting COVID-19.

How to Stay Healthy (previously recorded, not live)

This class is an overview of why self-care is so important for your health and your immune system amidst the pandemic. It will also include health tips for reducing your risk of contracting COVID-19.

New Topics

Leading in Times of the COVID-19 Crisis

Certain traits of an effective leader are especially crucial during times of crisis. Learn how great leaders in history have used their skills to communicate, adapt, and bring their people together in some of the worst crises ever faced in this country. This course offers practical strategies and tools to calm, inspire, and motivate those who look to you for guidance.

Living in Uncertain Times During COVID-19

We are all living in unprecedented times, which fosters worry and anxiety. Heightened worry and fear can only make trigger events worse than they already are. Controlling the way that we process these events is the goal of this seminar.

Living Off Your Paycheck During COVID-19

In today's financially uncertain world we need more guidance on how to live as frugally as possible. Being in control of our money in a time where there is little that we can control is a way to help ourselves and our families. This seminar will cover goal setting and how your money beliefs can affect the way you save and spend. We will discuss how to reduce debt, learn the difference between "meat and gravy" and consider how to increase your wealth through common sense advice for making ends meet.

Managing Fear and Anxiety Around COVID-19

Fears and anxieties are made up of thoughts that are based upon personal experiences or beliefs of the world today. Pretending that these thoughts and fears do not exist, or are not as bad as they really are, can actually make them worse. In this class, we will learn how to talk through our thoughts to realize that our fears and anxieties are manageable and controllable even through these challenging times.

Preparing Your Family and Children for COVID-19

This course offers a deep dive into specific strategies for your family members to deal with the current pandemic, with a specific focus on families with younger children. You will be given checklists and guidance for all possible scenarios your family might encounter. This course is designed to supplement other courses in this catalog.

New Topics

Quarantine vs. Isolation During COVID-19

During this time in history where we are all practicing safety more than ever before, it is important to review the definitions of quarantine vs. isolation and understand when each comes into play.

Staying Social During Social Distancing

It is easy to start to feel isolated or lonely during these important times of social distancing. This class will discuss the importance of keeping your social life active and the importance of social distancing by giving you different methods of staying social while staying distant.

Talking to Your Child About COVID-19

Talking about COVID-19 to your children or about any challenging topic can be delicate. In today's world, parents need to balance the message appropriately to ensure they can deliver a message of safety while reassuring children that they can continue being children.

Understanding Your Immune System

There has never been a more critical period within our lifetimes to understand the importance of our own immune system. This course will explain the importance of the immune system and how it functions. You will learn how to separate the fact from fiction and, most importantly, learn practical measures to strengthen your immune system.

When You or a Family Member Gets COVID-19

Given the chances that you or someone you know will become infected, it is important to know how to respond appropriately. Learn how to determine if you are sick, how to quarantine yourself and how to safely manage your household while someone is ill.

Break in the Clouds - Finding Hope in a Post-COVID-19 World

Although not everyone believes in the power of positive thinking, it has been utilized for centuries in many parts of the world. Today, scientists understand why the attitudinal approach (positive vs. negative) dramatically impacts us and our relationships with others. In this class, we will discuss our ability to benefit from the power of positive thinking by making changes to our thought process and perspective.

Community

Community

By now, nearly all of us have encountered those uncomfortable situations where friends, or even family members, have engaged in a heated political conversation. Our culture has become so divisive lately that many folks are afraid to join their family for the holidays, even virtually, for fear of inadvertently sparking a confrontation over politics. Regardless of our political affiliation, there are ways to avoid this stress. This course offers strategies to acknowledge our anxieties by addressing the areas of our lives that we can control and engage with each other in a respectful way that mitigates political anxiety.

Community and Giving Back: Leaving Our Footprints

Fewer things in life give us more joy than helping others. It is a feeling that provides us with purpose and meaning. But the journey to finding and participating in service can be daunting and intimidating. Sometimes it's easier to find reasons not to do anything than to do something at all. In this training you will learn the mental and physical benefits of service along with tips on how to overcome your fears to help you find purpose and get involved.

COVID-19 and PTSD

This class will provide helpful information regarding Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD) and its relevance during the COVID-19 pandemic. We will discuss the history of PTSD, the criteria for diagnosis, and the types of people it can affect. Following the presentation, attendees will be able to identify PTSD symptoms and triggers, assess whether or not treatment should be pursued, and evaluate their own mental health with a simple exercise.

Cults: Understanding and Deprogramming

The word 'cult' may likely remind you of names and events from long ago. However, the reality is that cults are still with us today and remain as powerful and dangerous as days gone by. This training will help you understand cults, recognize their tactics and understand how you can help loved ones break free from the stranglehold of their grip.

Community

Cultural Myths in Media: Fact or Fiction

In our culture, pictures have become tools used to introduce planned emotional reactions in the people who see them. This goes for news/media outlets as well. In today's world of blogs and online media, it is important to learn how to be a critical viewer in order to differentiate what is true and what is fallacy. Participants will learn why these myths matter and how they can greatly impact and construct our views.

Dealing with Challenging People

We all have different perspectives when defining a challenging person. Some people challenge the lives of many others, and then, there are types who can just get under our skin and push our buttons. Regardless of the particulars, we have two choices: we can learn how to effectively deal with the difficult person, or, we can remove the possibility of interaction with them. In this class we will learn how to deal with the challenging people in our lives.

Decreasing Violence on College Campuses

As parents, we want our children to thrive during their college years; to be challenged academically, to enjoy their new surroundings, to make new friends and successfully step into the new, young adult phase of their lives. Understanding the facts about violence on campus, learning how to talk with your young adult about these issues and becoming aware of available resources are important first steps to help protect your children.

Disaster Preparedness

When unexpected events, such as hurricanes, occur we sometimes wait for disaster to strike, and in many cases, we have no warning. In all situations, basic knowledge and preparation is the key to survival and recovery. We will talk about people and pets, as well as how you can prepare everything from documents to home protection and what you need to have ready to go so you can prepare with your family.

Domestic Violence

On average, more than 1 in 3 women and 1 in 4 men in the US will experience some form of domestic abuse or violence. Ending the myths and stigmas that surround domestic violence requires us to educate ourselves. This class will allow us to get a better understanding of what domestic violence is, signs to look out for, traits of what an abuser can look like and tips on how to help someone or get help for yourself.

Community

Helping Women Re-Emerge After the Pandemic

During this class, we will look at how and why women have been affected in the workplace due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Participants will not only learn important facts but also what we can do moving forward, to turn things around and get back in the game. We will also touch on hopes for the next generation of women in the workforce.

HIPAA

You keep hearing about HIPAA, but what is it? This program explains HIPAA, discusses patient rights, examines the Security Rule, identifies protected information, explores when information can be disclosed and addresses compliance mandates.

Holiday Survival Guide

We all have special feelings about the holidays. For many, it's a wonderful time for celebration, family gatherings and joyful memories. For others, it's a time of sadness and, possibly, a feeling of being overwhelmed. In this seminar, participants examine sources of holiday stress and learn strategies for coping and managing their emotions, time, relationships and finances. Participants will also share ideas for organizing holiday tasks, managing holiday demands and look at the role of holiday traditions.

How Safe Are You?

We live in a world where personal safety is an issue that cannot be ignored. This class covers some basic steps we can all take to be safer in our surroundings, including best practices and options for making yourself safer as well as changes we can make in our personal behavior to reduce the risk of becoming a victim.

Intro to Neurodiversity

This class offers a genuine discussion on understanding and embracing the multiple ways our brains work. Whether it's ADHD, Autism, mental health, or a number of other differences, understanding neurodiversity can be relevant to us all. Join in the conversation to learn how we can partner together to celebrate the value neurodiversity brings to our workplace, home, social community and lives.

Community

Kindness

The goal of this seminar is to equip participants with the self-reflective tools needed to define kindness in their own lives. In today's world, kindness is more important than ever before, as we struggle together to adjust and adapt to an ever-changing idea of 'normal'. We will acknowledge why empathy and emotional intelligence are essential traits for everyone, and how kindness - an act of doing good deeds towards others - is needed in the workplace and at home with our friends, families and in our communities.

Life in Today's Uncertain Times

The uncertainty of our world poses many challenges for us in the workplace and at home. The increase of stress from social and racial tension, along with its fast-changing climate, requires tools to make good decisions. This class will look at the dynamics of this environment and provide the tools for managing the range of emotions we feel. This includes ways of talking with coworkers regarding sensitive issues, as well as taking care of ourselves and increasing our resiliency.

Loneliness

What is loneliness? Are you lonely? How can you overcome loneliness? Loneliness is something that can affect our well-being along with our physical and mental health. All your questions, plus some very practical suggestions and tips for overcoming loneliness, will be discussed during this seminar.

New Years' Resolutions

Even though this class is meant for January 1 - everyday can be like January 1! This is a fact-filled class about resolutions that, when done properly, can truly change our lives. This seminar offers help, encouragement and guidance. The class is meant to be extremely interactive and participatory.

Parenting Your Teen: Giving Back

Researchers say that people who offer love, caring and support to others have better mental and physical health. They suffer from less chronic pain, lower levels of depression, and a better overall sense of well-being compared to those who are less altruistic. The goal of this seminar is to help parents foster a sense of giving back in their teens.

Community

Power of Volunteering

This class explores why volunteering benefits both individuals and organizations. Physical, intellectual and emotional benefits of volunteering are discussed in depth. Participants will gain a deeper understanding of both the personal and professional benefits of volunteering.

PTS: Veterans & Military Self-Help

During this specific Veteran and Military self-help workshop, we'll explore what's happening, how we're feeling, and most importantly, what we can do about it. Events happening in our community and around the globe may have a direct impact on the feelings, emotions, and thoughts of veterans and those currently serving in the military. What can we do about it?

Relationships

The definition of a good relationship is personal, but in many cases, it is shaped by a supportive partnership that fosters growth by each of the individuals. This class will include interactive and lively discussions on the misconceptions of relationships, the meaning of fulfillment, the importance of communication and the real definition of happiness.

Resiliency

Civil rights issues, financial concerns and the feeling of uncertainty has taken this world to a whole new level, which is why resiliency during a pandemic is crucial. This state-of-the-art class will focus on the key attributes of a resilient person in the current situation and invite us to examine the specific skills we need to thrive during times of adversity.

Staying Connected in Today's Digital World

With the advances in technology that we have today, connecting with others is right at our fingertips. However, loneliness is at an all-time high. During this training, we will take a look at how technology has changed our day-to-day social interactions and how these changes have affected the way we connect and interact with others. We will explore ways to use technology wisely, yet still maintain that personal touch in our relationships.

Community

Suicide Prevention

In today's world, knowing the early warning signs of suicide is of critical importance. In a considerate manner, this seminar will explore the ways we can all play a role in identifying the warning signs and implementing suicide prevention programs at work and in our community.

The Path Forward

We all know that life will never be quite the same after the COVID-19 pandemic and many of us are still asking questions. When will it be over? How will things be different? How will we adapt to the new world without becoming overwhelmed? In this course, we will use the lessons we've learned from past crises, such as 9/11, to help us prepare for the post pandemic world.

The Power of Persuasion: How to Influence Others

We all need to convince people to do or avoid certain things. We will cover best practices, tips and examples of how to shift your style in a way that best appeals to the audience you're speaking to.

The Truth About Hate Crimes

Learning about the history and the definition of the term 'hate crimes' is critical to our understanding of what is happening in our world. In this course, we will discuss the rise of hate crimes against specific communities, such as Asian-Americans, along with ways to get involved and support those who are disproportionately affected.

Travel After COVID-19

The goal of this class is to answer the difficult questions about how traveling has been impacted by COVID-19. During this class, we will share strategies to successfully and safely navigate domestic and international travel, along with what travel tools you'll need to navigate the world, post pandemic.

Trust

A cornerstone of every relationship is trust. Defining trust and understanding its components are essential for meaningful relationships within our personal and communal lives. We will discuss why you need trust others, how you get it, how you lose it and how you get it back.

Community

Unconscious Bias

Are we on top of our biases, or might we be harboring some prejudices that lie outside of our awareness? This program will define unconscious bias and give us a framework for how we understand it. With numerous discussion opportunities, participants will explore biases, look at how unconscious bias is measured, examine the conflict that arises between one's natural inclination to categorize vs. the conscious drive towards diversity, and identify ways to overcome these biases.

Understanding Personality Types

Understanding personality types can be somewhat confusing. This one-hour seminar is designed to gain a practical understanding of the different types of personalities and teach you how personality types can impact our behavior. Participants will identify their own personality type to learn how to use type preference as an energy management tool that enhances their skills in interpersonal communication.

What to Expect Next: Restarting our Personal Lives

We all know that life will never be quite the same after the COVID-19 pandemic. How will things be different? How will we adapt to the new world without becoming overwhelmed? In this course, we will touch upon the different obstacles we may face when adapting to the new normal. This curriculum explains all avenues, ranging from health concerns and finances, to the emotions we may experience. The presentation also discusses how to resume family reunions and safely return into our communities as we prepare for the post pandemic world.

What You Need to Know About Demonstrations

This presentation will provide participants with history and background of political demonstrations and demonstrators. Attendees will learn about the psychology of protests, the differences between looting and peaceful protesting, and strategies to help explain these sensitive topics to children.

When the Worst Happens

This is a seminar designed to help participants plan and prepare for when the worst does happen. This class can also be a great option for when a company, team or individual is going through a very traumatic event and provide them with ways to help them cope. In today's world, it is important we are aware and prepared for the worst of events.

Advance Directives

There are so many issues in life that you can't prepare for, but advance directives, just as the name implies, helps you plan for directives that you want done in the future. This class will define advance directives and identify their benefits. Participants will learn about living wills and durable powers of attorney for health care. We will also identify strategies for communicating with older relatives about the need for advance directives as well as resources that can help you complete them.

Authoritative Parenting

Authoritative parenting focuses on responsiveness and demands, and as we know, there are times when we need to take control of our children and their lives. This particular style works very well, helping parents keep in-tune with their children. We will discuss communication techniques, appropriate discipline, and listening skills. This class is meant to be very interactive and address real-life scenarios. This class is best suited for parenting children up to 12 years old.

Autism Overview

Autism is an issue that impacts many families. This class is designed to provide an overview of the autism spectrum, how to identify potential signs and provide guidance on how to cope with the challenges of raising an autistic child. There is opportunity for discussion and a review of resources to get help and support.

Best Practices for Supporting Others

This seminar will allow participants to discuss the basic techniques for providing help and support to others. Participants will learn how they can provide support without taking on the role of a counselor/therapist and leave with real life strategies they can use to help listen and support their loved ones.

BFF: Best Friends Forever

Building friendships is an important aspect of adulthood and childhood. Healthy friendships boost self-esteem, overall wellness and success at school/career/life. In this program children examine what makes them a good friend as well as what behavior to expect from their friends. For older elementary and middle school children, the discussion and activities look at peer pressure and bullying.

Family & Friends

Bullying: A Guide for Parents

The goal of this class is to provide participants with a fundamental understanding of the rise in bullying across the United States and how to best support their children. This class will highlight specific issues with bullying since the COVID-19 pandemic began, and how to support students returning to traditional classrooms.

Caregiving

Nearly one out of three Americans is currently providing care for a family member. This class will cover the issues of self-care, how to assess your family's needs and how to maintain balance within your life. We will also discuss common emotions caregivers may experience as well as special situations caregivers may face.

Children and Divorce

This class will discuss many issues that can occur for children during a divorce. Topics will include how to break the news to your children, how you can reassure them and help them cope with issues of self-blame. We will look at the basic needs of children during this time, including how you can help your children effectively communicate and achieve continuity, while living in multiple homes.

Children and Stress

Stress impacts children as young as seven years old, which can stop them from having a happier and more balanced childhood. This workshop outlines the causes, signs and red flags of stress among children and when parents should seek additional guidance. We will discuss the symptoms of stress in children along with techniques that will help children on an everyday basis.

Co-Parenting

Parenting is a challenging responsibility, especially for those who are going through a separation or divorce. The good news is, that with planning and understanding, you can parent just as effectively as you did before. In this class, participants will learn the challenges and strategies to co-parent successfully and learn how to focus on what is best for your children.

Family & Friends

Communicating with Young Children

This class specifically covers how to communicate with young children. We will explore the importance of good communication, what to expect at various stages and what kinds of communication techniques work best with younger children.

Compassion

This workshop is geared to teach younger children, ages four to eight, about the importance of being kind to each other. Children will brainstorm ways to "fill their bucket" with good deeds and kind actions towards their friends.

Creating Your Path

Exploring interests, making connections, and building a future. This program is designed for middle to high school students who are beginning to explore higher education and careers. Participants will leave understanding that they must fill their "life toolbox" with skills to determine where they want to go, who they need to know to help them along their path, and the social skills to interact with others, in order to pave the way to a life full of possibilities.

Dealing with Change for Families

Change is inevitable in life; however, for some, changes can be harder to adapt to than for others. This seminar will equip participants with the tools they will need to successfully navigate change together as a family. In this seminar, we will discuss what big or small changes are going on in participants' lives and address what is needed to work through these changes as a family. Children, partners, spouses and friends will all be addressed in this seminar.

Elder Care

It's not uncommon for one family member to be the sole caregiver for an older relative. This seminar will teach participants how to create a family approach to caregiving. We will discuss how family dynamics and family history impact a family's ability to work together as caregivers. Participants will learn strategies for problem-solving and managing conflicts with siblings and other family members.

Family & Friend Guide to PTS

We hear a lot about Post Traumatic Stress (PTS), but it can often be confusing for family and friends to support their loved ones who live with it every day. This training addresses what PTS is, in layman's terms, and how it can develop. Even more important, this seminar will cover how we can support our loved ones who are dealing with PTS symptoms and the sometimes frustrating situations it can create.

Fatherhood: A Day in the Life

This journey we call life has plenty of plot twists along the way. Becoming a father is toward the top of this great story. You are your son's first superhero and your daughter's first love. In this seminar, we will talk about how to prepare for the changes, balance your priorities and establish a routine.

First-Time Parenting

First time parenting can be exciting, overwhelming and exhausting. Although everyone will have their own individual journey as a first-time parent, this class will help to prepare you for some of the things you can expect. In this class, you will also learn some tips for staying sane, getting sleep, asking for help and many more topics!

Friends and Family: Our Foundation in Life

Family and Friends are the bedrock of a happy life. They are our most important relationships that highlight good times and support through our most difficult experiences. However, managing these relationships during COVID-19 has never been more difficult and more straining to those who matter most. During this training, you will learn the benefits of having friends and family (both from a mental and physical health perspective), how to deal with familial issues during COVID-19 and how to rekindle relationships in a post pandemic world.

Get Moving

This session focuses on the importance of movement and how to increase the amount of movement that kids get each day. By looking at their daily routine, they can brainstorm ways to increase movement through short exercises and daily awareness.

Family & Friends

Good Manners Will Get You Everywhere

Business etiquette for children. Children explore the basics that really matter in the work world. From handshakes and patience, to making eye contact and saying “thank you”, children learn that manners matter. We will discuss how good manners pave the way for opportunities and a great reputation, that’s bankable.

Grief, Dying and Death

This is meant to be a thoughtful and compassionate seminar that helps people talk and deal with a topic that's not often discussed. For many of us, this can be a very confusing time in our lives when we lose someone close to us and we don't have a lot of experience with it. This is a session where people can share, explore and educate themselves on ways of coping with their grief.

Handling a Family Crisis

For those who may be going through a family crisis or simply want to prepare, this class will cover how to manage expectations and guilt. Learn how to cope with financial challenges and what to expect during transition times. This class can also be geared toward managers supporting employees going through a family crisis.

Helping our Children Achieve Their Dreams

During this seminar, participants will gain the knowledge to help empower our children with the tools to turn their dreams into realities. We will focus on the importance of fostering a supportive and non-judgmental environment. This presentation will aid parents in the transition to becoming their child's coach, to help them achieve their dreams.

Helping Troubled Teens

This seminar will cover the facts of what it is like for a teen to live with a mental illness. We will discuss signs and symptoms, when a parent should be worried and how to get help. We will introduce what an addiction is and give suggestions on what you can do as a parent, to help your child.

If It's to Be It's Up to Me

Accountability and exploration of school and professional careers. Much of what leads to success in work and life relies on resilience, perseverance and social skills. This program guides children to find their talents and interests as they look to their future in higher education and careers. From there, they can gain skills in managing reputations, including being savvy with social networking and making positive, lasting impressions.

Imagination is More Important than Knowledge

Every challenge in the workplace is solved with a combination of knowledge and imagination, which is why creativity is crucial for problem-solving. In this program, children will learn that being able to figure things out is a vital part of the work world. Success often requires getting a team to come together for an assignment, or to allocate resources efficiently to create a new invention. Children will exercise their imaginations with a variety of challenges executed both individually and in groups.

Internet Information for Parents

This class will look at the realities of the Internet as well as the benefits. We will discuss the importance of learning the language of the Internet and how to identify concerns and risks. Participants will learn strategies to increase safety online with instant messaging, social networking and chat rooms.

Is High School Enough? The New Age

Today, most Americans believe that a college education has taken on the position that a high school education once had; a college degree is now a necessary ingredient for a good job and a way to live a comfortable lifestyle. In this seminar, we will go over the important life skills and responsibilities one gains in college, along with how to determine if the expense is worth it. Do you have a plan for your child or children? We will also go over goal setting at an early age, and how to create a plan for your child.

Family & Friends

It's Not "All About Me"

Success in life comes from realizing that life is not "all about me." Giving back to others in the home, community and workplace, benefits the giver as well as the recipient. Learning to understand other people's point of view is a key skill of successful leaders. In this perspective building event, children will explore how to recognize alternative perspectives, as well as how they can give back to others.

Keeping Your Aging Loved Ones Safe

We all want to be safe and enjoy our life to the fullest extent as we age. For that to happen, both caregivers and seniors need to be well-informed on basic safety procedures. This seminar will introduce six areas of safety procedures, with resources and tips that seniors and caregivers can use to stay as safe as possible throughout the years. (This program is available in two parts with each covering three areas, or as one combined presentation.)

Laugh It Off

Laughter is the best medicine for general health and the rough parts of life. It builds rapport with others and releases stress. It also can be a useful bully prevention tool. Children look at ridicule versus humor, what makes them laugh and how to deliver a funny story; helping them manage stress through humor.

Leadership

What does it take to be a good leader? How do we define it? In school, children have their first experience with leadership through authority figures such as a principals. But in the work world, leadership is so much more. Children will gain an understanding of various types of leadership styles, skills, and means of execution. By working on a project, they will be able to identify their leadership style as well as preferences for what kind of leader they are or with whom they like to work.

Losing a Loved One to COVID-19

Losing a loved one is one of the most difficult challenges anyone can face, particularly when it is sudden or unexpected. Chances are high that lives will be lost during the current crisis and we need to be prepared. This course offers guidance for both the emotional aspects of death, such as dealing with guilt, and the practical aspects, funeral arrangements, etc., of losing a loved one.

Managing Fear and Anxiety in Children

During this presentation, we will discuss some important tactics to help children, throughout all age groups, deal with anxiety and fear. Parents will learn that our own fears and anxieties must be handled in order to provide proper support to our children. After completing this training, participants will be able to help their children cope with their anxieties through compassion, structure, and flexibility.

Mindfulness

This workshop will teach the basic concepts of mindfulness and how to incorporate it into the everyday lives of our children. They will engage in a short breathing exercise; exploring their world through their senses and learning how to expand their attention and focus through mindfulness practices. The goal is to incorporate these techniques into all aspects of their lives – at home, in school and when interacting with peers.

Navigating Decisions as a Family

Sometimes there is no choice. Sometimes decisions are made quickly and we need to learn the tools to communicate these choices effectively to our children and families. In this seminar, we will address the questions you may have regarding family decisions and how to navigate them with as little stress as possible. We will address different decisions you may be facing, concerns you may have and how your decisions will affect the entire family. People may be at different places, but the process should be about the same. This seminar will provide you with the tools you will need to navigate decisions as a family.

Navigating the Teen Years

This seminar will touch on very important topics for parents who are, or will soon be, navigating children through their teen years. Participants who attend this seminar will take a critical look at the difference between what is important to them vs. what is important to their teen. During this seminar, you will discuss risky behaviors, how to prevent them and managing conflicts with your teen, as well as the do's and don'ts of parenting a teen. You will leave this seminar with a toolbox of best practices for managing those tricky teen years.

Parenting: Communicating with Young Children Through the Pandemic

This seminar is for parents with young children focusing on their communication needs from preschool to elementary school (2-10 years old). This seminar was created to support parents during the pandemic; providing information on how to effectively communicate and manage challenging emotions. The goal is to provide caregivers with tips on best practices for communicating with young children, how to carve out time for positive interactions and conversation, the importance of play, and a basic understanding of children's language development to gain perspective on why children may be showing signs of regression, or increased tantrums, during this challenging time.

Parenting Your Parents: The Second Childhood/Reverse Roles

Most adult children relive their parenting days when they reach their 40s and are tasked with caring for their aging parents. This new job of safety monitoring, health care and legal and financial issues will leave you with a fair amount of stress and anxiety. This class will give you some tips on managing a healthy relationship between you and your aging parents.

Parenting Your Teen: At Risk Behavior

This session addresses the realities of today: the good news and bad news. We will discuss essential facts of at-risk behavior and give parents the chance to have frank discussions about their fears. Learn what to do, what not to do and what we, as parents, really need to know.

Parenting Your Teen: Career and Life Goals

This module is designed to help parents discuss career and life goals with their teens by looking at their teen's personal values, interests and work skills, in a positive way. Parents will learn to help teens discover their true passions.

Parenting Your Teen: Communicating

Feel like you and your teen are speaking different languages? In this seminar, we will discuss how to create a comfortable climate for parent/teen communication, review the basic rules, the do's, the don'ts and the best practices, so you and your teen can be on the same page.

Family & Friends

Parenting Your Teen: Friends and Family

This class helps parents of teens understand the distinction between teen/family and teen/friend relationships. We will discuss communication breakdowns, rewards and the importance of communication, as well as best practices and advice for families with teens.

Parenting Your Teen: Managing Conflict and Problem-Solving

Conflict between parents and teenagers is a fact of life. In this seminar, parents explore ways to help their teenagers resolve conflicts and establish guidelines for acceptable behavior. The goal is for your teen to become a mature young adult who is capable of making good decisions independently, so they can manage their life in appropriate, autonomous ways.

Parenting Your Teen: Relationships

Adolescence is a time when peer relationships intensify. Teacher and work relationships grow in significance and parental relationships are routinely challenged. This module will define relationships, review best strategies and discuss conflict resolution techniques to share with your teen.

Parenting Your Teen: Sibling Rivalry

Many parents suffer with sibling rivalry in their households. In this seminar, we will discuss how to lessen tensions between children, their rivalry against each other, and even the rivalry they have for their parents' attention, through habits that may encourage rivalry.

Parenting Your Teen: Social Issues

To understand teen social issues, you have to learn what your teen is experiencing and the issues that they face. We will review best practices for tackling issues like: alcohol and drugs. You will leave with some important takeaways and resources to deal for your teen.

Parenting Your Teen: Success in School

Parents will learn which healthy habits are important to school success, how to help teens deal with teachers and academics and how to encourage teens to get organized. Learn to recognize when your teen is over-involved or under-involved, how to handle discipline and how to help them deal with peer pressure.

Family & Friends

Parenting Your Teen: Teens and Sports

Teens today are exposed to multiple entertainment avenues that can foster inactivity such as video games, television and other media devices. Participation in organized sports is a great solution, but when can a good thing become too much? In this class, we will discuss the importance of providing our teens with balance and perspective for the activities they choose, especially as obesity rates rise in the U.S.

Parenting Your Teen: Test Anxiety

Test anxiety is a reality for many teens and it can prevent them from showing their true academic competencies. This seminar will give parents the tools to assess whether their teen has test-side jitters or true test anxiety. Parents will also learn how to help teens manage their anxiety with proactive exercises.

Parenting Your Teen: Tips for Parents of Teenage Drivers

Parenting: Preparing to Go Back to School

The goal of this class is to provide participants with a fundamental understanding of how to provide our school age children with the social, emotional and academic support to provide a successful return to in-person learning. This class will provide steps on how to capitalize on the summer and ensure a smooth start for all students in the fall!

Preparing for College

A child going to college is a major family milestone. Household dynamics will never be the same. Preparing your child, his or her siblings, your spouse/partner, as well as yourself for this transition, is the goal of this program. If your child is attending college, you are already in the midst of coping with all the changes. If your child is still in high school, you have ample opportunity to take notes to prepare them and yourself for a productive transition.

Raising Diversity In Your Home

This is an opportunity for all parents/caregivers to learn how to effectively communicate on the diversities in the world today. We all come in different shapes and sizes, and we have different backgrounds, beliefs and abilities, that reflect on where we come from. You will learn how to talk about dealing with stereotypes and how to set a positive example for your kids.

Resiliency for the Working Parent

Today's working parent needs to build resiliency in order to prevent burnout. This class will give you the tools to manage stress while maintaining a sense of work and family life balance.

Screen Guide

In today's digital world, many parents are conflicted on when and how often to let their children use their screens. We will discuss age limits and recommend some of the apps/websites that have been approved, so parents can safely set limits. Setting limits often brings many challenges and we will delve into how to tell our children why guidelines are necessary.

Single Parenting

This workshop offers a discussion on the challenges of raising children on your own. Techniques for caring for your children's needs while still having time for you and your needs, will be covered. We will discuss how to enjoy life even if it has become different than what you had expected.

Special Education in the 2020-21 School Year

This course covers the many challenges parents are facing during the COVID-19 pandemic: dealing with stress and anxiety, learning how to advocate for your special-needs child, correcting behavioral issues, enhancing socialization, and how to work with your child at home. We will also cover additional accommodations that your child may need.

Step Families

We all come in different shapes and sizes, and we have different backgrounds, beliefs and abilities depending, in part, on the style of family we come from. Whether we're from adoptive families to single-parent households, blended families, families with stay-at-home fathers and same-sex households, the care and support family members offer to one another is essential to the adequate functioning and development of children in today's society. In this session, we will discuss discipline, family values and how to have fun, regardless of your family composition!

Summer Planning for Families

In this seminar, we're going to update you on what options are available for summer camp, summer school/tutoring, childcare programs and summer jobs. We'll also cover how you can take a balanced approach to your planning, such as finding a balance between structured and unstructured time, how to involve your children in the decision-making process, determining budgets for camps/summer programs as a family, and helping create a summer job action plan. Other topics covered will include camp healthy and safety and family vacation planning.

Teaming Up

How do you best work in teams? Two heads are better than one! Children start working in teams at school by seven years old, yet are rarely taught the lifelong skill of how to work best with others. This program helps them identify aspects of leadership, as well as accountability, for responsible contribution to productive collaboration. Brainstorming and consensus are two concepts that are discussed. Children are given a project to plan as a team to then explore their style of participation.

Teen Suicide Prevention

13 Reasons Why was a 2017 Netflix series that was based on the book by Jay Asher. The series has become increasingly popular, but has raised major concerns from the mental health community, around the topic of suicide. To some, the series portrays suicide in an irresponsible and dangerous manner. To others, the shows suicide as a romanticized notion of "speaking from the grave," to incite blame and revenge. Educational opportunities to teach youth about depression, help, resources and treatment are glaringly absent. Adults are portrayed as preoccupied and out of touch. Rape, bullying, accidents, and alcohol are included, as well as a very graphic depiction of the suicide. Without adult supervision, these themes can be difficult for youth to process and put youth with a history of depression at an increased risk. This series should only be watched with adult supervision. There is a fear among the mental health community that the program may lead to a suicide contagion of copy-cat behavior without full awareness of the finality of death. The show has produced an increase in dialog around depression and suicidal warning signs. We will discuss these issues and more.

This seminar will help you learn what the best decision for you might be, when it comes to this significant purchase.

College Tuition: Understanding Financial Aid

Financial aid is an umbrella term that includes many different types of grants, loans and other methods of assistance to pay tuition. This seminar helps parents understand the college financial aid process, which can make a high tuition college more affordable than you imagined. Participants learn how to apply as well as how to understand what the financial aid package means to the financial lives of them and their child.

Financial

Documents for Life

It is often difficult to discuss the future with aging parents and other older relatives. This seminar will guide you through the important discussions to have with your aging relatives including managing and documenting their financial and healthcare plans and preferences. We will cover the documentation that you should consider putting in place, including advance directives, beneficiary forms, wills and trusts.

Eldercare - Financial Planning

Many of us help our older relatives with their finances and this seminar will guide you through that process. This seminar will give you an opportunity to create a budget to cover the basics of social security, Medicare, while respecting the wants and needs of your loved ones. You will also learn some warning signs that your loved ones may need extra help, as well as scams and pitfalls to be aware of, that have affected seniors.

Estate Planning

This seminar does not offer legal advice but does explain the documentation needed for estate planning. You will learn the terms for will-planning, guardianships and trusts, and review the pros and cons of various options.

Estate Planning - Ramifications of Your Employee Benefits Package

This class will help older employees understand how the benefits they earned during their employment years will impact their lives to come. Conversations will include group life insurance, pensions, long-term care, deferred compensation, income with respect to a decedent (IRD), and even frequent flyer miles. All of these have tax and planning ramifications post-employment for employees and their families. Lost opportunities such as net unrealized appreciation (NUA) to lower taxes on company stock, use of trusts, the differences of IRA and 401(k) as well as other qualified plans at death or disability, will also be addressed.

Financial

Financial Fitness

Does your staff dread change? This program will identify the kinds of changes organizations face, describe how to develop a communication plan and explore the importance of being proactive. It will also explain how to communicate change successfully using empathy and active listening skills, anticipate common employee reactions and explore working through the change.

Communicating During Times of Change

We have experienced many more violent attacks in the last ten years. Social media keeps us in the know, every nano-second. When those topics come up at work, it can be an opportunity to share our views, however, we need a new set of tools to prepare us for engaging in conversations with others who have different views. This class will focus on how to look at our thought process and think before talking when controversial topics come up, so that we can reply with tact, while being respectful of others.

Communicating in a Tech World

Communicating face-to-face is not always possible in the business world. Today's communication depends on conference calls, texts and email chains that make it challenging to know when each outlet is appropriate. Nowadays, it's vital to use technology to communicate with workers worldwide. This class will show you how to interact professionally in the workplace using technology.

Work Life

Communication for Managers

Communication is perhaps the most important skill a manager must learn and work to improve, in order to be effective. From the 'One-Minute-Manager' concept to continuous feedback, there are many ways to be an effective communicator. In this class, we will learn and practice the various skills that are needed to communicate as a manager.

Communication Skills for the Workplace

Communication is perhaps the most important skill to develop in order to be effective in the workplace, and it can be developed with practice. Conflict Management for Employees

This class will allow participants to understand and dissect their role in conflict, which is the first step to conflict management. This is a journey to assess and learn what you can do differently, to "play in the sandbox" productively with a wide variety of people. Participants will take ownership, with self-assessment and self-awareness.

Conflict Management for Managers

About 60-80% of all workplace conflicts come from strained relationships between employees and managers. Learn the skill of resolving conflict in the most amicable way, benefiting individual and team productivity.

Creating a Great Place to Work in Ten Easy Steps

This seminar will teach participants a vision of the ten steps needed to create a great place to work, because who doesn't want to come to work every day and love where they are and what they do? Participants will come out of this class with a clear vision of not only what a healthy work environment looks like but also how to create it in their workplace. This will be a step-by-step process. To make it work, an investment must be made by each and every person.

Creating Positive Work Environments

Topics covered in this seminar will be building trust, creating positive communication, setting expectations and needs, creative ideas for recognition and rewards, building teamwork, finding meaning in your work, and accepting responsibility and humor in the workplace. All of these areas help foster a positive work environment.

Creative Problem-Solving and Decision Making

Every problem has a solution. In this program we will explore some techniques to help us get to the solution sooner rather than later. This interactive class begins by asking for a list of problems that the attendees are currently working on, so they can see real life benefits of using these techniques.

Work Life

Critical Thinking

Beyond just memorizing facts or learning from rote, learning to think critically expands a person's ability to problem-solve and see things in a new way. By learning how to ask different kinds of questions, we open the floodgates to different ways of viewing concepts. This class will take a look at the origins of critical thinking concepts as well as applications of them in our work and private lives.

Cross Cultural Sensitivity in the Workplace

As we work towards more dynamic and inclusive workplaces, we must consider cross-cultural sensitivity in the workplace. This in-depth course touches on unconscious biases and aggressions that we may commit, or experience, in the workforce, while also presenting solutions to help avoid these situations in the first place. We will also discuss why it is important to foster inclusion and how to combat aggressions when we see them.

Curiosity

In today's times, we need to look at what we are curious about and why. Curiosity drives motivation and often encourages us to take our careers and lives to new levels.

Customer Expectations

There is a perceived expectation that every customer has when going into a business relationship. To manage expectations, you must first start by understanding what the client's expectations are. You must learn how to manage your promises and how to measure satisfaction. Delivering on expectations means excellent customer service. In order to understand what your customers feel is a good level of service, you first need to ask them. Find out what your customer wants from your product or service. Then work out how you can meet those needs.

Dare to Be Bold

In today's emerging and aspiring world, we need to be bold. This seminar encourages us to achieve what we have yet to accomplish and to help us create an action plan to get there. It will touch on why we need to be bold, what holds us back, and what empowers us to move forward. This is a highly motivating class that will leave all participants thinking about their next steps in work and life.

Work Life

Participants begin by identifying the uncomfortable issues and realities they face at work and at home. Then they learn how to confront such issues with tact, empathy and clarity. This seminar helps increase productivity and improve relationships by proactively addressing problems, conflicts and misunderstandings.

Delegation

The concept of delegation garners agreement in practice but can be difficult to achieve. This program will define delegation, determine what it is and what it's not, explain when to delegate and explore the barriers to delegating as well as the benefits. There will be plenty of opportunities for discussion and participants will use a delegation pyramid to describe the delegation process, examine the importance of regular and frequent communication and learn when to say no."

Disability Inclusion in The Workplace

This seminar is a deep dive into the importance of having an inclusive work environment and best practices on how to be more aware. During this seminar we will do a review of the Americans with Disabilities Act and have a facilitated discussion on ways to foster inclusivity in the workplace.

Diversity in the Workplace

This class is not meant to fulfill a diversity requirement. It is meant to be an honest and open exchange of how detrimental and unacceptable certain demeaning behaviors are to groups that are different from the majority. The goal is not to attempt to change people's beliefs on diversity, but instead, change their behavior and reactions to situations.

Dual-Career Relationships

Dual-career relationships are here to stay. They require special attention to remain healthy, productive, and loving. By recognizing that we may not have grown up with a dual-career model to cope with today's challenges, this program gives participants the tools to evaluate where they are, what they need to do, and how to keep communication channels open.

Work Life

Dynamics of Change Management

Change is stressful, and learning how to manage and cope with change is crucial to our well-being in this ever-changing world. Although the stress of change is unavoidable, you can learn how to deal effectively with change in the workplace and in your personal life. In this seminar, participants will learn effective ways to cope with change in addition to learning how to take charge of the aspects that can be controlled. Core concepts related to stress and the emotional and physical responses we have to change will be discussed, along with effective stress management strategies.

Work Life

Maintaining a Health-Conscious Workplace

For many of us, the last time we heard about incident command, safety, or a healthy work environment was during our onboarding process, which could have been many years ago! However, these topics, among others, have remained relevant and recent events have highlighted the need to reinforce and reinvent the way we communicate these ideas, through yearly training. This topic is centered on a novel, general pitch of these topics that will illustrate how employees can become involved and raise awareness of workplace policy management. While not a formalized training on these issues, the seminar will spark conversation and ideas about how to better implement safety and health-conscious attitudes in the workplace and serve as a springboard to the government-certified courses.

Maintaining a Safe Work Environment

A safe work environment is created by organizational leadership and staff. It involves understanding risk. It also involves defining unacceptable behavior and establishing consequences. Workplaces are safer when employees know how to handle disruptive situations and effectively document incidents. Workplaces that are open to the public, and that service clients and customers, face special challenges which are also addressed in this session.

Making Meetings Effective

We often have to spend more time in meetings than we would like. Whether you attend or run meetings, we will review how you can make them efficient, effective and productive.
