

VIRGINIA BANKERS SCHOOL OF BANK MANAGEMENT
HONOR CODE

Home Study problems are individual assignments meaning you are to work on the assignment ALONE and are not to discuss the questions, potential answers, strategy, research or data resources with another Bank School student. Any evidence of shared work will be considered an honor violation (i.e., cheating).

You may seek assistance from a subject matter expert in your bank as part of your research BEFORE you start to write your papers. The subject matter expert cannot be another Bank School student.

If you have any questions on the honor code, please contact Kristen Reid at kreid@vabankers.org or (804) 819-4731.

The Honor Code portion at the bottom of the Cover Sheet MUST be signed when submitting each assignment before it can be forwarded on to the instructor.*
