PRAISE FROM SPONSORED SCHOOLS

“I loved the objectives broken down by grade level. It allowed me to disseminate information appropriately and not overshare with grade level teachers. Teachers shared info with parents and when closures occurred [due to COVID-19], we sent out the information again to our families.”

“This is a wonderful program that supports school-wide reading and learning across all content areas. It truly brings school and community together!”

“VAROB not only motivates and excites the students to read, it does so for their whole family! The parents, staff, custodians, cafeteria workers, and bus drivers - we are now a family of readers!”

“I am beyond appreciative that our students not only had this opportunity to read a book with their families, but also were able to build their home libraries. Thank you VAROB, Read to Them, and American National Bank!”

What Students Say:

“Last night was the last chapter and my whole family was excited to find out what would happen. After we read, we talked about how we all had connections to some of the characters. I loved reading with my whole family because we never do anything together anymore.”

-Currituck, NC

98% of educators surveyed

Noted an increase in student engagement with reading and learning as part of the program

What Parents Say:

“Thank you so much for this program. When my wife and I divorced, I spoke to my children every night on the phone. We always talked about the chapters they had just read during One School, One Book. It was a great way to connect when we felt far apart.”

-Albemarle, VA

87%

87%

of parents surveyed

Expect to read more with their child after participating in Read to Them's One School, One Book program.

What Schools Say:

“We have already seen a significant impact. The excitement about reading has grown. It’s really great to have everyone talking about the same book. What we are trying to do is transform the community through literacy.”

-Mission, TX

95%

95% of educators surveyed

Would do the One School, One Book program again.

What Administrators Say:

“We are having a lot of fun with this program. We had over 400 people attend our Family Literacy Night and love the responses we are getting from our families. We are sitting down today to look at a book for next year.”

-Bryan, TX

86% of educators surveyed

Noted positive movement toward school goals for student learning.
